Title Page & Abstract

An Interview with Samantha Thompson
Part of the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library

*Illinois Statecraft – Jim Thompson Oral History project
Interview # IST-A-L-2014-012

Samantha Thompson, daughter of Gov. Jim Thompson, was interviewed on the date listed below as part of the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library's Illinois Statecraft – Jim Thompson oral history project.

Interview date & location:
Date: April 4, 2014.
Location: Thompson family home, Chicago, IL
Interview Format: Digital audio
Interviewer: Mike Czaplicki, ALPLM project historian
Transcription by:
Edited by:
Total Pages: Total Time: 1:29:30 / 1.5 hrs
Session 1: Life as the First Daughter of Illinois
Accessioned into the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library Archives on September 23, 2014.
The interview is archived at the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library in Springfield, Illinois.

© 2014 Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library

Abstract

Samantha Thompson, Illinois Statecraft, ISG-A-L-2014-YYY

Biographical Information Overview of Interview: Samantha Jayne Thompson was born to Jayne and Jim Thompson at Springfield Memorial Hospital in Springfield, Illinois, on August 3, 1978. Although spending her early years at the Executive Mansion in Springfield, the Thompsons relocated to Chicago when Sam reached school age. She attended public schools until high school, when she enrolled at the Latin School of Chicago. She attended Georgetown University for college. After college, Sam embarked on a career in the fashion industry, working for Fausto Sarli, Gucci, and Theory before operating her own consulting firm for five years. At the time of this interview, she was the president and creative director of LoungeLux.

As the first child born to a sitting Illinois governor in seventy-two years, Sam's birth and childhood drew sustained media attention. In this interview, she reflects on this attention and her experience growing up in the public eye. She also discusses controversy over her appearance on the campaign trail in the 1978; life in the Executive Mansion; her parents' decision to enroll her in Chicago public schools; living with a protective detail; protests outside the family home; meeting John Mellencamp, Willie Nelson, Ronald Reagan, and George H.W. Bush; relationships with fellow students; memories of campaigning and other public events; personal qualities of her parents; how social media has intensified pressure on public officials; the 1992 Republican Convention in Houston; her sympathy for Gov. Rod Blagojevich's family; Gov. Thompson's artistic sensibility, presidential ambitions, and his decision to leave the governorship, and her family's love of Hayes House in Du Quoin.

Subject Headings/Key Words: 1978 Illinois gubernatorial campaign; 1992 Republican National Convention; Artie the Elephant (childhood doll); artistic eye of James R. Thompson; bag boys (traveling aids); Rod Blagjoevich; George H.W. Bush; Chelsea Clinton; collecting habits of James R. Thompson; Du Quoin Fair; first families; gubernatorial protective detail; Hayes House; Illinois Executive Mansion; presidential ambitions of James R. Thompson; Ronald Reagan; James R. Thompson; Jayne Carr Thompson; Samantha Thompson.

Note to the Reader: Readers of the oral history memoir should bear in mind that this is a transcript of the spoken word, and that the interviewer, interviewee and editor sought to preserve the informal, conversational style that is inherent in such historical sources. The Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library is not responsible for the factual accuracy of the memoir, nor for the views expressed therein. We leave these for the reader to judge.

COPYRIGHT

The following material can be used for educational and other non-commercial purposes without the written permission of the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library. "Fair use" criteria of Section 107 of the Copyright Act of 1976 must be followed. These materials are not to be deposited in other repositories, nor used for resale or commercial purposes without the authorization from the Audio-Visual Curator at the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library, 112 N. 6th Street, Springfield, Illinois 62701. Telephone (217) 785-7955